I found that there are basically 2 types of charts: one has everything in it and they just need to follow what's already there and the other is a huge lot is there on one side and another side is completely missing. Yours is the second type. You have an overwhelming amount of Drive and determination to succeed, amount of tools at hand, outside help and good self esteem as well, many things that others lack and would love to have. On the other side certain qualities are very weak in your chart, like the willingness and ability to express yourself, showing yourself as example and the way to handle and treat women well. As the latter is missing pretty completely, you need to develop them from scratch, grow these qualities from the very seed. In a way this is more difficult than those people with a theme they just need to follow, because they already have a sense what to follow which is the correct one, people like you or me have to develop qualities they have no real idea what these are about.

The motto of your chart I would phrase with the words of Bernhard of Clairvaux:

„Praesis ut prosis, non ut imperes“
„Be first to serve, not to rule“

Or put another way: you have the rare chart of potential to become a real hero and i dont mean the Rambo III type. A true hero follows his way while yielding to the higher law. Nobody necessarily needs to know the inside of a real hero and he wouldnt bother anyway. Besides that, its the chart of a warrior. Start to see and believe in the good things on Earth, dont just see the evil stuff! Evil people are not your match, just your assignment or challenge. While leading, yield to the leading principle. Serve.

In your case big Metal Geng is the (only) way you need to go. There are few charts with this singleness or clearness of where to go.

Geng Metal equals White Tiger. You were born a hot Red Tiger, i think it is about to transform to a chilled White Tiger. White Tiger lives in Siberia and by my knowledge is the biggest cat recent on Earth and the most dangerous raptor of any of them all. Strong and fierce and able to endure extreme climates. The species left the Woods for the ice desert, quite remarkable. A tigers mind cannot be broken, perhaps only hypnotised for some time. Other than that, a cat always stays in the moment, a rare form of focus. Like this he never loses track. When he acts, he acts quickly, without remorse and decisive. I also remember from a class of Dr. Wu that white cat is the most auspicious and a messenger from Heaven or the Moon.

Geng stands for big metal objects like construction machinery and devices, big cars and trucks, the Heaven itself, movement with direction and focus, and Geng Metal is like the big sword or the huge axe, main ideas are (self)control, justice, order and discipline, the law of the King and the Heaven, decisiveness, truthfulness and directness while at the same time being open, tactful, polite and just. Geng metal never shies away or flees the battlefield, never deploys crafty schemes, never hides in the shadows, never follows some type of personal justice or code of ethics. So car and movement, getting big things done by movement of a principle (thats the idea of a machine) is beneficial towards the owner. Beneficial forms for example are: big metal structures, metal colours white and gold, subduing to army like hierarchy with the intention to serve a higher means or principles by subduing to general order, concentration of mind, metallic sounds like Gongs etc., the NorthWest, male Gods, true heroes, perhaps even going for a club which is dedicated to driving huge tanks around might be beneficial, i heard they have some clubs like this in the US. The idea is not to suppress the Wood qualities you have in abundance (see below), but to transform your mind towards serving a higher principle by the rules and laws of that higher principle. With these rescue teams you lead for example, you are on a prime good way.

The way of Geng Metal is also your way to go through this Life.

Detrimental forces are Wood and Water and these should be avoided. Wood besides being actual wood and forests stands for growth and expansion and exerting control over people by force, also for high ideas the owner believes in and tends to use as a base for a selfish type of righteousness. Wood gets cut by Metal, see notes above: developing concentration and subduing to higher principles is key here. Owner also has high flaming spiritual ideas and lots of helpers, also should be highly psychic. The Power of the Wood is very strong in the chart and needs to be curbed! Following spiritual ideas without developing personal discipline of the mind will actually lead into the opposite direction, because if followed this way, owner is likely to become either a fanatic or a hypocrite. Cannot stress it enough: cultivation of the discipline of the mind is the single most important key to this chart. Must learn to see the bigger prongs holding the universe together than just his individually skewed taste for righteousness or any type of morals.

Water besides actual water for the owner means wealth, money, riches, women. All these tend to be very treacherous or dangerous towards the horoscope owner. But the role of water is a mixed bag, because the chart is dry and hot and the water is able to cool the chart a little, taking away the pressure of the spiritually felt drive and burden. But its always a difficult relation between these two. Again, funneling this energy into cultivation and focus of his own concentration will benefit the owner greatly. Get the balance between fulfilling your own cause and not hurting that Water, because thats what you do naturally without thinking or intent. Women and money tend to be hurt by you and therefore they fight back in retaliation. Its like drops of water which accidentally landed under the boiling pot, making little or big steam eruptions and pops all the time, its unnerving. That being „unnerved“ needs to be contained with focus. Key here is to gain back personal focus. The entire chart revolves about the idea of gaining individual focus. Means to do this are eg to establish fixed routines like doing 1h of sword Qi Gong every morning and then afterwards sitting down for another hour to translate or write stuff every day. Get into a routine and press yourself to follow it for gaining concentration. This done in a strict german type of discipline. Start pressing hard on yourself and the pressure from outside will loose its weight and impact. This chart is all about you mastering your own pressure. You tend to press others for peak performance like you do to yourself, sway the weight towards pressing yourself. By doing this you will gather the strength to handle all your overpowering internal drive. This drive you have is quite exceptional and uncommon, its great task with even greater potential rewards. Geng sword needs a clear cut way of movement, the impact needs to be precise, decisive and crushing. You need to develop the sharp edge to decide between right and wrong under the principles of universal ethics. Develop that axe to cut down your own Wood, so to make something usable out of it.

The type of Geng Metal which is beneficial to the owner is to be seen and noticed, so perhaps establishing a sword show with the owner as the or one of the artists could be a good idea, anything which will get the owner noticed for his straightness, exertion of self control, as well as submission under a higher law, as well as an image and example for others of what is possible once the mind is tamed and molded into something useful. Mold your mind as the smith would mold a sword.

EG think of yourself as a small boy looking at yourself 40 years older performing on the swordplay stage and inspiring awe and the desire to achieve sth alike for yourself, like becoming a great sword fighter. Danger for deviation here is Water: money, adoration of women, getting lazy because of the admiration and the views and expectations of others. Universal righteousness is more important than fandom, falling for fandom of others will directly lead to losing your focus because the admirers will tend to inflate your sense for individual righteousness and destroy your focus. Focusing on the welfare of the nation is more auspicious for you than focusing on the welfare of single people or persons. Go for the big picture. A stance or inclination of a hero.

Body, character and Life challenges:

Basically benevolent, but with a strong edge to do things and acquire results by forcing ones will on it. Very strong sense of righteousness, yet the type of righteousness may be rooted in an individual base, not necessarily matches the common sense of righteousness shared by the general public. Tendency to go against the grain due to individual reasons. Lots of drive, will never ever give up or in. Learn to be more diplomatic. Able to lead people under a greater cause, will have lots of competition throughout life but also help as well. Has ability to lead people like an Officer engaged on the battlefield, leads by courage and displaying the values he fights for himself. People doing his tasks should be treated like soldiers and given clear rules of conduct to follow, unite your army under a general greater cause! The main strife in life is to put himself under the rule of universal ethics or put another way to yield to the laws set by Heaven. Biggest challenge in Life is to withstand the urge to setup and follow a personally or individually setup code of ethics. Because of immense internal drive never can sit still. Likes to be flattered. Cultivation of concentration and focus is key here. All movement towards any singlesided type of truth and order will result to a detrimental effect to the owner of the horoscope. Person will be seen and noticed his entire life, is like a huge mountain standing tall surrounded by chains of supporting mountains under the sunlight. Life is full of hard work. The personal and individual views need to be subdued and perhaps altered towards and for the benefit of these higher principles. Any deviation from this, like trying to press ones own rules upon people will result in fierce opposition and alienation from the people he leads as well as the empowerment of his common opposition and foes.

Person is tall and thin. High flaring spirit, great amount of spiritual ideas and drive, danger of becoming haughty or fanatical with entertaining or holding up spiritual ideas. Cannot sit still, needs to move and have action. Knows exactly whats right or wrong for or to him, quite uncompromising to the point of being opinionated or prejudgemental. Let go of that. Very decisive, gets his goals accomplished. Can lead people and has lots of friends and competition as well at the same time.

Women: give way and circumvent them to avoid problems. Women engaged are always pretty or beautiful. Women in general inauspicious. Perhaps better to have girlfriends only, marriage probably not auspicious. By developing concentration, righteousness should be developed at the same time. Going celibate may be an extreme measure, but in this extreme setup of the chart may also be adequate. Yet don't become fanatical with it, sexual desire is the strongest emotional force and with that much fire in the chart probability of high sexual base drive is big.

Potential illnesses: knee, eyes, backbone, limbs, heart, top of the head, blood related and inflammation type illnesses, may have sickness of the surface of eyes and head, left eye weaker than right eye.

Ability to study and learn is above average but meeting with concentration issue, also capable teachers are available, can achieve a lot when pursuing learning. Is highly competitive. Thinks of an idea then will straight away act on it, hesitation is not a word in the vocabulary. Hard to lead a steady life, but can achieve high skill and rank in the arts and spiritual fields. Bold, attractive, can endure humiliation other would break under, no smooth career, likes to win, doesn't like to hear negative things about self, impatient, forgetful, extreme personality, has bad luck frequently, unlikely to have sexual compatibility with women, probably not faithful towards wife or girlfriend, harsh and burning to girlfriends and women, yet potential spouse is good, unreasonable behaviour within relationship, no happy marriage, lonely life, wants to talk and open up but can't, charismatic but elusive character, lots of ups and downs in life yet general life good, calculative, solitary especially towards old age, likes to move a lot. The further away from birth area the more successful, strong sense of justice and responsibility, courageous, risk taker, indulges in self improvement, has overwhelming success in pioneering endeavours, can achieve rank in the martial arts, moved out from parents early, unstable focus in business and career, affinity with siblings is weak, between 16 and 37 many obstacles, again from 49 onwards, weak affinity to children, perhaps better not to have children, not understood by parents, unable to settle the mind, unable to focus, doesn't like to take orders, frank and direct in expression, dislikes evil and can level up, very quick and decisive reactions, can teach, high ambitions, great personal changes at middle age (48-68), should lead alone but not sided by partners of same rank or title, clever with words but using cutting remarks, strong sexual desire, not faithful in partnership, but easily jealous, serious approach to romance, big personal development around middle age, can become successful then, person likely to enjoy longevity.

Moving through the cycles of Destiny

Destiny, according to Chinese metaphysics, is moving in sets of ten year cycles, so called Luck Pillars (LP). Your first LP started at age 8 in year 1994. From then on, every ten years a new chapter in the book of your life is being opened and the events within these ten years will have some common theme, the individual years bringing the specific characteristic events. I'll try and figure out what might have been and might be the key events and their respective themes between 2014 to 2023, like I already did with the relationship issue back in year 2012.

LP 2014 until 2023: DingYou, Fire Rooster

2014: JiaWu, Wood Horse

A year of high flaring ideas and ideals. Excessive drive to „conquer“ the world and exert one's own righteousness upon it. Probably even to the extent of feeling like being sent by some higher force to fix and burn all evil things on this world. Danger of being flattered from outside and kind of dictatorial approach to tell others what's right and wrong or what to do and what not, like with missionary zeal. Lots of help from the outside world, yet still running into a „fixed wall“. Person can't get his true feelings out, feels alone and misunderstood. Peak of this mindset probably occurred some time in October of that year, bringing up some kind of „same competition“ or competition from the same side of the field, very much to the startlement of the owner, resulting in some kind of collapse of the previous outlook on the world and suddenly discovering barriers which have its roots in the hot fiery desire to cleanse the world by force of mind or spirit. Person went so extremely fast, almost got carried out of the curve. Perhaps eye or blood related disease due to the very hot and burning mindforce?

2015 YiWei, Wood Ram

Probably a year of conflict with authorities or superiors or old men. Own confusion of what's right and what's wrong. Thoughts revolve around the topic of spiritual questions all the time. Personal feelings hurt, but nobody knows or takes notice, because it is hidden. Again, lots of help from the outside, yet may not have been noticed by owner, or even the helpers have been accused of being the cause of the trouble. Difficult time. In job life, got a lot accomplished by using own methods and following his own way.

2016 BingShen, Fire Monkey

Spiritual ideas or pressure got even intensified. High drive to change for the better. In this year there likely was a significant encounter with a female or females, resulting in yet another disappointment, but again kept hidden. Some serious efforts to gain focus, but only partially successful because that female got „in the way“. Like always with women, they tend to try to control you, but no slight whiff of a chance, these poor women will all get burned to evaporation by your high flaring ideals and totally unyielding and uncompromising way of life. I wonder whether you were able to still carry on with celibacy that year, because opportunity was there and also your high natural sex drive. Try to develop some compassion with them. A year of great psychic insights.

2017 DingYou year, Fire Rooster

This year was the focus and culmination point of the entire ten year LP theme. Outside legal or official forces tried to imprison you, either mentally or real. At the same time any attempt to outwit these forces would lead nowhere or backfire. Heaven helped you big time this year to deflect and melt the danger. Hidden attempts to evade or counter the „legal“ or „authority“ pressure all failed. Owner never succumbs or yields to this type of pressure and is smart enough to see the danger. There was lots of mental pressure and pain that year, but if lessons learned, owner will tend more to mind his own business instead of interfering in the affairs of third parties uninvitedly. In a picture: you never should use a dagger, stay with the sword! Dagger is hidden, Sword is visible at first glance. Sword will protect you, your own dagger might be used against you. That year, you as a fierce tiger just ate the Rooster trying to attack you. In the long term, the experiences of this year would give you a lot of mental strength.

2018: WuXu year, Earth Dog

This year you got your army ready to strike and your territory vastly expanded. There were many and enough people around you to be directed and having your orders followed to outstanding success. Spiritual Fire at maximum, but hidden inside of owner, hard to see from outside. From outside will be seen as a sole mountain top surrounded by vast chains of supporting mountains under the bright sunlight, so many people will perceive your outstanding achievements. Some of the internal pressure will be taken from the peers and followers of the owner, at the same time competition is fierce and merciless. As always, owner will press his will upon the world, never smooth, but breaking any resistance by force. In that respect, these high ideals are a blessing. Peak of achievement probably some time around October or November, there was a real challenge successfully mastered only by the help of the spiritual goals of the owner, that same incident with someone else could have had that other person sent to jail after it happened. This is such a strong chart.

2019 JiHai year, Earth Pig

The mountains block the view of the vast plains, this year you have a chance to see the vast plain ahead. This will make you stop and reconsider, even to the point of being puzzled. While your drive still keeps strong and fervent, it will recede more inside of you. There is a high chance for some sort of „silent“ competition, either from a real person outside or from conflicting urges or drives hidden inside. This most likely might result in self doubt or too much suspiciousness. This year, the competition will use shady tactics and try to hit you concealed. Way to evade this is to stay in the open, have enough space around you to move, have your friends looking for you, never answering deceit or covertness with the same means or actions. With the setup of your chart, you must stay in the open and be visible, cannot risk to become bogged down in a swamp. This might be due to businesspartners or female relationships. Stop listening to flattery or seeking it, it is a sinkhole. Stay out of any legal conflict and keep your records clean, dont give anyone the chance to backstab you with your own dagger, keep things straight, keep within the boundaries of the law: this is valid for all years from 2019 to 2023. „Official“ forces will have a keen eye on you these next 5 years, beware!

2020 GengZi year, Metal Rat

This year is an interesting one, because it resembles in small the influences of the big 10 year LP you will arrive at 2044 or at 48 years old. This is a year of chances and simultaneous temptation, meaning a lot of struggle. There is likely to be more problems with women, although you have good intentions they will take it the wrong way, resulting in emotional hurt. The emotional hurt may result more on the side of the women, because they are attracted towards your intensity but have no idea what it really is all about, they tend to misunderstand it and the intentions why you behave the way you do. Play as fair as you can at all times, it would be easy to exploit them but that would turn out in a bad way later. You may get a hint or hue what „focus & concentration“ might be about for you, but not yet able to reach it, will slip away. Keep the effort, will pay out from 2044 onwards. No matter, keep the effort high, this is all about accumulation concentration and will pay off eventually. Like as in year 2019, beware of doubtful business partners.

2021 XinChou year, Metal Ox

A very important year. The woman issue from last year will come to a finish, as usual difficult and as usual go with general ethics to deal with it and not your own ethics.

There is likelihood that law enforcement of any type will try to go after you. Its all about your code of conduct over the last years and wether or not you will have a clean slate at that year or not. Chances are good that because of your good conduct and failing to deliver any bad apples or bad deeds, they cant touch you. They will give you the opportunity to learn their rules. Observe them well. They will use a fighting technique you need to study but never copy. Avoid the Northeast that year and put a figurine of a mouse or rat in the Chou sector of your house or room. This year will likely be difficult mentally, remember this is just a passage on your way. There also might be a tempting relationship chance. Overall my thought is the year may become emotionally challenging in many ways, but because of your spiritual drive all these problems will be conquered in the end towards your benefit. Go for the open places, dont let yourself be trapped in the woods. Being in the open is your best defence instead of the psychological inclination to hideaway coming from within. Make transparent what you do and what you are about and nobody will be able to backstab you. You will still have the help of noblemen, even if that help seems to be lacking they are there.

2022 RenYin year, Water Tiger

Your „old self“ will have had enough and try to come back with a vengeance. This will be a time you will be inclined to hit back full force in retaliation for the injustice you perceived being done to you. As Water Tiger is the opposing link between Red and White Tiger, you need to be extremely careful with what you do. Your mental force compared to the average guy will be enormous, in a picture your wood will become so strong it can destroy Metal. My advice is to use all the focus you developed the last years to stay inside the boundaries of law even though you might have the chance to exert power and control beyond these limits, because your way and sense of true justice will be tested this way. Your already gained focus will be tested in a major way. This is a time when you will be shown and experience how it is to be at the long side of the stick, the way you have been before you encountered in your life how it is to be at the short end of the stick and succeeding the maverick way. Dont fall for that opportunity to exert personal power and vengeance. Some of your world views will get shattered, overall there is chance for harm of your emotions, i think thats payback to you as well as a huge chance to do it differently than you did the last times. In short: learn how to be compassionate under circumstances you would be inclined to act cruel.

2023 GuiMao year, Water Rabbit

Again a year of fierce competition and challenges. This time opposing forces will entirely use concealed tactics, you will not see the direction its coming at you, resulting in some sort of alienation because you dont know where to strike back at. Best way is to avoid trying to blow back at all and concentrate on your very most own issues. When outside help seems to have vanished, you still got your own sword and sword of mind to protect you. Your army will have shrunk to the core, you will see who is your real friend and who is not in case you deny the urge for fandom of others or flattery of others. Avoid that like the devil does the holy water, or like the chinese say: „Dread public admiration like the pig dreads the knife of the butcher“. Still carry out your actions in the open and within the boundaries of the law.
